Kosher Certification

The Kosher is the set of religious rules that govern the nutrition of observant Jews. The main rules derive from the Bible, namely the Torah.

In order for a product to be Kosher certified it is necessary that it satisfies the strictest quality standards and that all the production and packaging procedures and every single ingredient used in its preparation comply with the restrictive laws of Kashruth, in particular, by this certification, it's certified that in Medac products are not present substances of animal origin.

The Kosher certification of Medac has received by the Rabbinical Court of Central Northern Italy.
